

David Robinson releases Inner Groove

Award-winning songwriter David Robinson presents his latest album, Inner Groove. The new record is being launched at Nook Nosh in Adelaide on 27 May. David will support the release with a series of local shows throughout June and July, before heading to the UK in August.

The album features eleven original songs and was recorded at Hiball Studios over a period covering the last two years.

“It’s been a while in the making, but I’m really, really happy with the final product,” says David. “I think it’s a good representation of where I am at, musically speaking.”

The songs carry the dual hallmarks of David’s impressive music; thoughtful lyrics coupled with memorable tunes. The songs tell heartfelt stories of inclusiveness, the need for togetherness and the bravery required when it is time to say goodbye.

Accompanying David on the album are engineer/producer Nigel Grummet and long-time musical collaborator Gavin Atkinson.

CD copies of the album will be available from David’s website and from Mr V Records in Semaphore, South Australia. It will also be available digitally from most web-based outlets including CD Baby, iTunes and Amazon.
